THE NEW REGISTRATION.

The objection to having a new regis tration of the voters of this city during this campaign is that the Democrats are more apt to lose than gain strength by that proceeding. There's no denying the fact that some Democrats are now either very lukewarm, or positively indifferent to the success of our ticket 'As things now stand, even up to the closing of the we might hope to rouse these thren to their party duty. But if we have a new registration, and these men neglect to register, no entreaties of ours, after the registration has closed, will make voters of them.

In short, the Democrats of this city have something to lose and nothing to gain by having a registration during this

Again, this year as usual, our City Committee would need a considerable amount of money to enable it to bring out our voters to register. To raise this money would be no easy matter now. Business is dull and likely to continue so, and collections would not be readily

That our registration list needs revis ing we grant, but we think this might pe better done next spring than now. On the fourth Thursday of next May & vote as to calling a constitutional convention will be taken, and that question we suspect will arouse much interest. In a certain and by no means improbable event this election will be a very exciting one; it is sure to be lively enough to call the attention of the people to the necessity

So if the date for the new registration should be out a little ahead of that election, quite surely there would be a good turnout of voters. Then in the fall of revision of the list, and thus we should be all right for voting at the gubernatorial election of November of next year.

If the general expression of opinion against having a new registration at this time, we feel sure that the Electoral Board will cheerfully make the change to rally continue weak, nervous, and deessed under apprehensions as to the effect of the elections of November 3d.

Many of those New Yorkers who have been most industrious in circulating the "50-cent dollar" alarm cry, now wish they had not "stuck their coulter so deep into the ground," as it were, for on the one hand it has etimulated the activity of certain creditors on behalf of free some bank depositors. And the very New Yorkers who did all they could to scare the country are now in a situation which compels them to unite to brace up the market. In other words, they are hard at work trying to counteract the mischief they have caused.

It is agreed by these worthies that there must be no bond sale before the day of election, for it is admitted that such a sale would insure the election of Bryan. For the same reason a panic must be avoided if possible,

In short, it is now seen to be to the interest of the gold men to have bustness proceed as usual during the next ree months. But, alas, this is hardly to be hoped for, no matter how industriously the men of millions now work

The belief that with free coinage our dollar would fall to 50 cents' value has become too widespread to be removed in days. And yet among skilled nenciers we dare say there are few inn would be anything like that

Dispatch has always thought that the change would cause a business disturbance, and Senator Daniel himself admits his belief that it would—but we cannot but believe that the universal wreck and ruin predicted would put fol-us, whether gold-bugs, silver-bugs, or straddle-bugs, would better agree to agree on one thing-to-wit, that the country eed not be thrown into spasms no mat-er how the election goes. To this end the New York bankers should work; they are the last men in the world who ht to want to see a panic.

That the great financiers of New York are becoming more and more willing to adopt a toning-down policy there is growing proof. Of course, it cannot be expected that these gentlemen will admit that the election of Bryan will do to harm, but we think they are almost ready to say-or at any rate will be before long-that it will not produce re-sults so direful, so widespread, so ir-reparable, as they once producted. For our part, we are willing to join hands with all lovers of the country, hich has disgraced this campaign toth sides have indulged in excesses We have heard enough of it. Let's try to lezzen it, if we cannot stop it entirely.

We learn from the Washington Post of esterday that there was a report at the headquarters of both congressional comow under consideration by the political managers of McKinley and Eryan for a general joint debate on the money que heavy artillery on both sides of the issue should be brought into the field for active service, and an equal division of time arranged for at all the big political meetings." In addition to the two principals, McKinley and Bryan, it was suggested that ex-President Harrison Sherman, Senator Allison, Senator Speaker Reed, Senator Lodge, Secretary Carlisle, Postmaster-General Wilson, and other prominent sound-money men should meet in joint discussion Senator Vest, Senstor Teller, Senator Allen, Senator Morgan, of Alabama; J. A. J. Warner, ex-Representative Williams, of Illinois; Governor Stone, of Missouri, and others.

Senator Faulkner said, the Post continues, that he had heard nothing of such a plan until he arrived in Washington. He added that he did not believe the Republicans would be willing to go into such a debate, for, in his judgment, it would be suicidal for them to do so. He says the fight of the sound-money men will robably be made on a different line of "although he admits that a oint debate between some of the men amed would be one of the grandest inciients of any political campaign within the past quarter of a century."

As a rule, the sliverites gain and the coldites lose by joint discussions. Such was the result of the debates in Georgia between Hoke Smith and Crisp, Such was the result of the discussion at Belviiere Hall, in this city,

The gold reserve is a stumbling block in the way of the goldites' success. The people can't be made to understand why his government should be put to such us inconvenience as it is to maintain this reserve for the use of speculators. Nor can they understand how it is that if the millionaire financiers can stop the shipments of gold now for political effect, why they couldn't have stopped it before the last bond issue; an issue that was followed by a great scandal, and which did more to infuse life and aggressiveness into the free silverites than anything that has ever happened.

STREET-CAR RULES.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: To the Editor of the Dispatch:
On a recent visit to Norfolk I found the following notice posted in bold type in front and rear of each street-car. Why can't our car companies do the same?
"A rule of this company prohibits the smoking or carrying of lighted cigars or cigarettes on this car. Conductors must enforce this rule.

UNCLE PETER.

orce this rule. If we have any such rule here, it is not enforced.

Nor is the rule enforced here which re quires passengers to go into the car as ong as there is room inside, and not crowd the rear platform. It is no unthing to see a platform so rowded that additional passengers cannot enter the car, while in the car there is plenty of room-standing room at least. In the course of the year the companies ose hundreds of fares by failing to enforce this rule. People standing on the sidewalk and looking at the platform, think that the car is crowded, and will not venture in. They prefer to walk rather than scuffle through such a crowd. do our conductors make passeneers huddle up closely in their seats as is the custom elsewhere. The consequence is that two people often occupy seating space that should be used by three. However, we do not blame the conductors much. These are customs of our people from which they cannot be easily broken. We trust to time as the corrective,

Electric Company would do some of its atrons a great service by painting the loop"-car white, yellow, green, or some other color different from that which it is now painted. Up-town people are constantly rushing into it, only to find that it lands them at Seventh street. There is a placard on the car, to be sure, but

Judge J. H. Broady, of the Lincoln Bar. who was for two terms District Judge of the First Judicial District of Nebraska, and who, at the close of his second term, declined the unanimous nomination of the Democratic party for the Supreme Court of Nebraska, says of William J. Bryan:

His eloquence is distinctly intellect adorned with the graces of rhetoric and oratory. It is not of the kind which influences the passions. It does not arouse pity, bias, prejudice, anger, or venarouse pity, bias, prejudice, anger, or ven-geance by playing on the feelings, or tearing a passion to tatters. Its tendency is rather to awaken intellect, argument, and reasoning by comparison and from cause to effect. He is not a blatherskite, and cannot talk well unless he has something to say. His leading characteristic is exceeding His leading characteristic is exceeding clearness of intellect and marvellous ability to clothe his thoughts in language. In doing so he often does for his auditors what they have been vainly trying to do for themselves, and thereby becomes their oracle. This he did at the Chicago convention. He may be called a prodigious thinker on his feet. He does not arouse the emotions or affections like Clay. He does not awaken the spirit of ridicule like Corwin. He does not inflame the combativeness to crush like Douglas. But he impresses his arguments more clearly on the intellect than either of them. His rank at the bar is about the same as the three distinguished orators that I have named.

fore; but now the State, and even the county, candidates must stand flatly on the Chicago platform, or there is no show for their nomination. Last Saturday week, at a mass-meeting in Roane county, the Democrats polled 1,528 votes, or 100 more than they ever poiled at an election in that county. This certainly indicates that the party is aroused and united as never before, and Walter Fendileton, our candidate for Congress from the Fourth District, tells me that he needs no assistance whatever, as the other counties are of the same mind, and his election is assured.

"They have a unique method of conducting their county conventions in West Virginia, which enables one to tell just how popular sentiment is going. They are usually held on the court-house green, since no halls there would contain the crowds which attend. The chairman and officers of the convention sit on a platform built up against the court-house, and the crowd stands in front. When the candidates for Sheriff, for instance, are put in nomination, the chairman appoints a teller and "file-closer,' as they call him, to represent each candidate.

"Then the file-closer for Mr. A. takes his stand to one side, and all in favor of A are invited to line up with him. B's friends line up together in the same way, and so on. Then the teller for each counts the voters, and the candidate with the largest number in line receives the nomination. It is a simple and old-fashioned, but effective, method; for every man must stand up and be counted, and there are no 'repeaters.'" At the meeting of the New York Deme cratic State Committee at the Hoffman House Tuesday, many of the committeemen, proxies, and leading Democrats from up the State were asked by the Journal this question:

What is the sentiment in your district in regard to the State Convention en-dorsing the Democratic ticket and plat-form, and what seems to be the trend of chairman, Elliott G. Stevenson, and called the State nominating convention to be held at Bay City, August 25th. Although Chairman Stevenson, who is the law-partner of Don. M. Dickenson, still emphatically deprecates what he terms the outrage of unseating some of the Michigan gold-standard delegates to the Chicago convention, he accepts the platform and candidates decreed by the national convention, and declares that, being a Democrat, he will do his whole duty in waging a vigorous campaign in Michigan for the success of the party's nominees, and its declares policies. It is arranged that the Populists and the new Silver party conventions will be held in Bay City on the same day as the Democratic convention, and it is thought the fusion of the three parties on the same ticket will be the result.

The opposition to retaining Chairman The New York World tells us of an heiress in that city who is worth more heiress in that city was is worth more than her weight in gold. Stevenson was not especially strennous in the meeting, although some prominent free-cliver man on the outside doclared that silver men who voted for Stevenson were misrepresenting their constituents, and went home greatly chagrined at the result. Mr. Stevenson had previously expressed his willingness to resign in favor of W. R. Burt, of Saginaw, or Fred. A. Baker, of Detroit. Both the latter are prominent silver leaders, and Baker was willing to accept. On the question of Stevenson's resignation a motion to refer it to the State convention was discussed, but afterward withdrawn, and the resignation was finally tabled by a vote of 13 to 9. > 1 | Does No Good. (Portsmouth Star.)

(Portsmouth Star.)

We are inclined to think with the Richmond Dispatch that it will do the opponents of free silver no good to exaggerate the depreciative effect of a possible free colnage law upon the value of the dollar. Conceding that the passage of such a law would reduce the purchasing power of a dollar to a large extent, that quality certainly would not be abridged by one half, as is implied by every one who speaks or writes of a 50-cent dollar. The buillion value of a silver dollar. The buillion value of a silver dollar is even now more than 50 cents, and we know of none who claim that this buillion value would not be raised in some degree, in the event of the passage of a free colnage act, by the increased demand for silver to be used as a coinage metal. Therefore every time mention is made of a 50 cent dollar a conviction that the free silverite is being unfairly treated is forced upon the mind of the unbiased voter. As in every other question where unfairness figures, syspathy takes the side of those unjustly treated, and in this case the free silver advocate will be the gainer. It is one of those cases where to give a dog a bad name is not by any means equivalent to hanging him. finally of Cecil Rhodes's dream of a clean at a Bryan and Sewall ratification meeting, to be held in Augusta, Ga., on August 12th, but he has not yet accepted.

It can be stated, however, that the Secretary will attend and preside if he can find time. Mr. Smith will support the regular Democratic ticket in every way possible. He entered the financial fight in Georgia, and in his speech at Augusta last spring called upon his opponent, ex-Speaker Crisp, to know whether or not he would support the nominee of the Democratic party.

Mr. Crisp replied in the affirmative. Then the opposing Democratic leaders pledged themselves to vote for the nominee of the party, and there is not the slightest doubt but that both will faithfully live up to the promises made in joint debate. The Norfolk Pilot, in a notice of the The Noriois Pliot, in a notice of the last No. of Lippincott, says: "Evan Ragland Chesterman has a char-acteristic sketch under the title of "The Devil's One Good Deed that is cleverly Devil's One Good Deed' that is cleverly done, and that has a very pathetic effect. 'The devil' in this case is a printer's davil, who dies for the man who has been kind to him. Mr. Chesterman is a young Vir-ginian, who has had a thorough education, and is now private secretary to Governor O'Ferrall. He is a son of W. D. one of the staunch gold-standard advo-cates of the South, passed through Wash-ington last night. He stated that, while he was still of the same opinion respect-ing the financial issue, he would give both his vote and influence to the nominee of the Chicago convention. He has placed himself at the disposal of the Democratic National Committee, and has announced his willingness to make speeches wherever requested. General Gordon is a fluent and able speaker, and the raising of his voice in support of Bryan will be of material benefit to the Democracy in all sections of the country. Smith: Brown has owed me $50 for the last four years.

Jones: That isn't so bad. If you'll figure it, you'll see that it's only a dollar a month; and when he owes it to you eight years it will be only 50 cents a month.

THE TOWER, OUT LOST GAUSE

A Most Appropriate and Beautiful Souvenir of the War and

The Late Reun

THE DISPATCH COMPANY has at great expense got a most artistic companion picture for OUR HEROES AND OUR FLAGS, which was so eagerly sought after by our readers last winter. The picture is beautifully illuminated and presents President Davis and Vice-President Stephens surrounded by their last Cabinet, while below are speaking portraits of Lee and Jackson. In the centre is a handsome drawing of the proposed Jefferson Davis monument, by Mr. Percy Griffin, of New York. Under each portrait is the fac-simile autograph of the personage represented. This will make the picture of decided intrinsic worth as a memento of the late war. There is also an exact reproduction of the Sea of the Confederacy, while beneath the portraits of Davis and Stephens are draped the four flags of the Confederacy. In the foreground is a picture of the "Merrimac" or "Virginia" and a piece of heavy ordnance. Taken as a whole, OUR LOST CAUSE is a most interesting souvenir. No southern household should be without it. It is on thick cardboard, just suited for framing.

To obtain the picture, cut out 3 coupons of different dates and bring them to the DISPATCH with 10 cents, or send the coupons with 10 cents and a two-cent stamp and we will mail the picture securely in a tube to any address in this country.

Remember, 3 coupons of different dates and 10 cents at our counter or the coupons with 10 cents and a two-cent stamp when it is to be mailed.
